

LIFE UNDERWRITERS SEE SIGHTS OF ZION

Eastern Delegates From Los Angeles Convention Stop Over for Few Hours.

LOCAL BRETHREN PROVIDE THE ENTERTAINMENT

Trip to Saltair and Organ Recital Part of the Programme.

When the delegates to the convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, who have been holding their convention in Los Angeles during the past week, left for the east over the Denver & Rio Grande at 6:55 p. m., Thursday, after their entertainment in Salt Lake City, they were filled about as full as ever they could hold of stories of the beauties and advantages of Utah, and they will have much to meditate upon for the next year and possibly for a number of years to come.

The special train bearing the delegates did not arrive from the south until 10 o'clock, so that the intended breakfast at the Knott was omitted and the party was at once taken to Saltair for the outing there. A bath in the wonderful waters of the Great Salt Lake proved a source of astonishment to the visitors and they viewed the mountains and wide stretch of valley with eagerness and interest. A basket lunch had been prepared by the ladies of the Utah association, and many members of the association here were also present to assist in the entertainment.

Everything that would conduce to the pleasure of the guests was done and it was with real regret that they left the beautiful pavilion and returned to the city. A special organ recital had been arranged at the tabernacle and an entertaining programme was rendered by J. J. McClellan. Following the recital, the entire party was taken for a ride about the city in carriages, cars and automobiles. The visit to the streets of interest, made a run along Brigham street, took a look at the handsome City and County building, made a trip through Liberty park and saw all the large business buildings.

No opportunity was lost to boost the life underwriters of this city gave the people from the east a true notion of the destined greatness of Salt Lake and sailed the argument by pointing out the tremendous increase in population and building that has taken place here within the past few years. All members of the party were delighted with everything they saw.

Roster of the Party.
Following are the members of the party: Col. Will A. Waite, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. William Tolman, Bridgeport, Conn.; F. C. Chapman, Cleveland; Mrs. Jennie M. Beckwith, Cleveland; Dr. and Mrs. Martin, Cleveland; O. W. Carpenter, Cleveland; William W. Patterson, Pittsburgh; Miss Clara Harper, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Orr, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Courtney, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Sammie, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. William T. Carroll, Philadelphia; T. R. Leonard, Chicago; Henry J. Powell, J. M. Johnson, G. L. McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Florence Schell, Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, Miss Lucy M. Morrill, Boston; W. H. Herrick, St. Louis; L. F. Olliger, Cleveland.

They were entertained by Will G. Farrell, president of the Utah Association of Life Underwriters; M. L. Robinson, secretary of the association; John D. Spencer, Bulon S. Wells, A. G. Allen, one of the delegates to the national convention from this city, and others. At the luncheon which took place at Saltair, addresses were made by W. G. Farrell, Governor Cutler, Col. W. A. Waite, secretary of the national association; William Tolman, third vice president of the national association; E. Russell Leonard, H. J. Powell and Mrs. Florence Schell.

Many allusions were made to the convention, the amount of business transacted there, and the excellent entertainment provided. The holding of the convention at Los Angeles this year was obtained only after hard work by the California delegates, assisted by those from Utah and other western states, and throughout the entire convention there has been an intent to give the eastern delegates the time of their lives. From the expressions of pleasure heard from many of the visitors here it seems not too much to expect that there will be another national convention held in the west before many years, and the place will be Salt Lake City. It is said that there may be a number of investments made here by some of the eastern life companies as the result of the visit of prominent officers. Thirty-one of the entire number of fifty regular delegates to the convention were in the city Thursday and members of the association are feeling proud of the showing they made.

REGISTRATION OF ALL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

D. H. Christensen, superintendent of the Salt Lake City public schools, announced Thursday that registration arrangements have been completed for the coming year. The registration office may be found in the high school main building from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 2 until 5 p. m. on Monday morning, and all pupils who expect to enter high school must register. The registration will continue through the week. Pupils from the grades are requested to bring their certificates with them, and to pupils from outside the city will be admitted to the high school until his or her certificate has been approved by Superintendent Christensen.

DINNER FOR PRESS CLUB AT EMIGRATION CANYON INN

The Press club will be entertained at dinner Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Emigration Canyon inn, as guests of the Wagner-Browning company. W. F. Kiser, vice-president and general manager of the company, invited the club to visit the new resort, and of course, the invitation was accepted. The members of the club and other newspaper men of the city will meet at the club room at 7 o'clock Saturday evening and go to Emigration canyon in a body.

Rates cut to $7.00 per week until Oct. 1st at Upper Falls Resort, Provo Canyon.

ROEBLING COMPANY FILES ITS ANSWER

Says That Herbert C. Matthews Has No Money Coming to Him.

The Roebbling Construction company Thursday filed an answer in the Third District court to the action of Herbert C. Matthews to recover $1500 alleged by the plaintiff to be due him from the defendant company as commission for his securing for it the contract on the Judge building.

The company in its answer admits that an agreement was entered into between it and Matthews that he should receive the money as commission, but says that subsequent arrangements were made by which the plaintiff was to receive the sum of $1500 and continued employment as superintendent of construction upon and work as the company might have in Salt Lake City.

According to the answer, Matthews was employed as superintendent of the Judge building, and the company fulfilled its part of the contract, but the plaintiff did not pay him the money. It is alleged, Matthews voluntarily resigned, having so conducted himself that he was no longer fit to act as superintendent. Now, the defendant company sets up as a counter claim that the plaintiff, while in its employment, was guilty of gross negligence, not coming to him by reason of an agreement between them that he was not to receive the money, and that he further received an advance from the company, no part of which has been returned. Matthews also has failed to make an accurate record of the work he received from the company.

The construction company asks that Matthews be paid nothing by his complaint and further demands judgment against him for $150, with interest, and the costs of the case.

CASWELL WHITMAN ANSWERS HIS WIFE

Will Not Stand for Her Accusations in Her Complaint for Divorce.

SAYS SHE IS NEGRESS AND HE MARRIED HER AS SUCH

She Has Money and Jewelry, and Can Pay Her Own Expenses.

Caswell Whitman Thursday filed answer in the Third District court to the rather sensational suit for divorce of Inez Gomez Whitman.

In the complaint of his wife it is alleged that Whitman compelled her to go upon the streets and live an immoral life to support him, and that in February, 1908, he struck and beat her, blackening her eyes, and threatened to murder her. She alleged that her husband was a negress, she says.

Answering the complaint, Whitman admits having spoken of his wife as a negress, but not for the purpose of causing her humiliation and mental distress. He alleges, however, that she is of negro descent and he married her as a negress.

He further admits that he may have struck her, but it was in self defense if he did so, he avers. In January he found her on the streets of Salt Lake City in company with Lawrence Heckley and he endeavored to induce her to leave Heckley and go home with him, but she refused and Heckley attacked him. He defended himself and may have struck the plaintiff then, he says, but if he did so it was not to cause her bodily pain or mental distress.

He also denies that they were married at Birmingham, Ala., February 2, 1904, but places the date one year earlier. He denies that he is capable of earning $8 a day as a tailor, as she avers in her complaint, but places his wage at from $2 to $2.50. He further refutes her allegation that since June, 1907, he has failed to provide her with the necessities of life, or that she depended upon him for support. He says he provided for her throughout 1907, but that in February, 1908, she refused to live with him and has lived ever since on her own.

In answer to her claim that she is financially unable to prosecute her suit for divorce, and on that basis asks $150, he says she is in possession of property valued at $500, which he gave to her, and she further is in possession of other valuable jewelry and mining stock that were given to her by divers persons.

Significantly, Whitman is unable to defend it, he alleges, and he asks that she take nothing by her action and he be granted his costs.

KILLS HORSE IN COLLISION

Bert Fuller, in Newhouse Machine, Runs Down Horse and Buggy.

OCCUPANTS OF BOTH
VEHICLES ARE THROWN OUT

Fuller Receives Gash on Left Thigh; All the Others Escape Injury.

In a collision between an automobile and team on Main street, between Tenth and Eleventh South streets, Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock, one person was injured, a horse killed, a buggy smashed to kindling wood and an automobile badly damaged.

The person injured was Bert Fuller, driver of the automobile, who had a cut to the bone five inches long on the left thigh. The horse and buggy which met fate belonged to Adolphus H. Peterson of 261 East Seventh South street, a clerk in the Deull Drug company's store.

Five other persons figured in the accident, but only three of them returned. They were Miss Edna Walsh and Richard Walsh, 4 years old, who were with Mr. Peterson in the buggy, and Henry Mayer, the well-known bicycle rider, who was with Fuller in the machine. Other members of the Fuller-Mayer party were two young ladies, who were seated on the front seat with Fuller. Samuel Newhouse is owner of the machine, which was a 1907 model.

Both of the girls told a contradictory story of what happened. They said that near as the Fuller machine was going fully throttled about because the drivers of both vehicles became excited and thought a collision was going to take place, and in an attempt to avert it, caused it.

Fuller tells his story. As Fuller recites the affair, he was going down Main street, and he was going at a fast rate of speed. He was going at a fast rate of speed. He was going at a fast rate of speed.

The sharp turn made by the machine threw one of the rear tires off, and the hard steel rim of the wheel caught in the road and the machine was thrown to the right side of the street when he saw the team. He says that Peterson, who was driving the buggy, was thrown out of the machine and he was thrown out of the machine.

DECISION AGAINST ELMER E. DARLING

Judge Ritchie Holds That Five Per Cent Interest Monthly Cannot Be Charged.

SAYS IT IS USURIOUS AND UNCONSCIONABLE

Bases Judgment on Decision Formerly Rendered by the Supreme Court.

Judge M. L. Ritchie, of the Third District court, Thursday rendered a decision in the note case of Elmer E. Darling against Eugene N. Botsford.

The decision, which is in writing, is important. It holds that usurious interest after maturity cannot be collected, and a provision in a note requiring the payment of 5 per cent interest a month after maturity is unconscionable and void.

Darling, August 7, 1901, loaned Botsford $100 for ten months at 2 1/2 per cent interest a month until maturity and 5 per cent a month interest for the time the note should remain unpaid after that. In amounts of $10 a month, as per the note, Botsford paid altogether $137 and then refused to pay more. Darling brought suit to collect the balance, with interest, and Botsford's attorneys set up the defense that the $5 a month interest, amounting to 60 per cent a month interest, was unconscionable and usurious.

Judge Ritchie, in his decision, upholds their contention, but says that the rule determining unconscionability is peculiar to this state alone. In his decision, which follows in full, he grants 5 per cent after January 7, 1901, and the principal and ten installments of interest amounting to $25.

This is Judge Ritchie's opinion: Action is brought upon a note dated August 7, 1901, for $100, payable in monthly installments of $10 each, and with interest at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent per month from date to maturity, interest payable monthly.

The principal question to be determined is whether a provision of the note that "if not paid when due" it shall "bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per month from maturity until paid" can be enforced.

The defense is, that it is unconscionable. The Supreme Court, on April 17, 1900, several months before the date of this note, held that upon a loan of money a contract to repay a sum "equivalent to the sum loaned with interest thereon at the rate of 26 per cent per annum from the date of the transaction" is unconscionable.

Howells vs. Pacific States Savings, Loan and Building Co., 21 Utah 24. This decision establishes a rule for determining unconscionability peculiar to this state alone. This court is not able to determine by what reasoning this conclusion is reached, but is bound by the conclusion and not at liberty to speculate upon the reasons upon which it is founded. It follows that the stipulation to pay 5 per cent interest per month after the maturity of the note is unconscionable and void. There being no other provision providing for interest after maturity the note draws 8 per cent interest thereafter.

Stevens vs. South Ogden Land Co., 20 Utah 238. Under the record as made the court is precluded from discussing any question of law which might have arisen from a consideration of the provisions relating to payments of principal or interest required to be made on or before June 7, 1901, the date of the maturity of the note.

The plaintiff is entitled to the principal and ten installments of interest amounting to twenty-five dollars. City ticket of interest after June 7, 1901, is to be calculated at 8 per cent per annum. Findings may be drawn accordingly.

SOLUTION OF THE GARBAGE PROBLEM

Mayor Thinks Plan to Pay Haulers by Weight Is Best One.

Mayor John S. Bransford and the City Board of Health are convinced that in the recent plan to pay garbage haulers by the weight of the loads they have found the best solution of the problem of disposing of refuse matter. The service is more efficient and less expensive.

The Mayor scoffs at the idea that rocks and boulders are being hauled by the drivers of garbage wagons to increase the weight of their loads and accordingly boost their revenue, since the garbage is inspected immediately upon its unloading, and such would be discovered at once. So far not a complaint has been made against a driver.

The adoption of the present plan has materially reduced the number of complaints to the health department about unhailed garbage, the Mayor says. The Mayor thinks, however, that the city is not getting the best of the situation. He is proposing to hold dances and other social events in the future to raise funds with which to meet the expenses of the organization, and also carry on the coming campaign.

WORST TRAMP NET IS CAPTIVITY

Lieut. Shannon Captures Him in a Field Near His Home.

As dilapidated a piece of humanity as has been seen by the police in months was arrested Thursday morning by Lieutenant Richard Shannon. The tramp was found in a field not far from the Shannon home on Johnson street. The tramp has been hanging around the western part of the city for several days, and was such a grizzly looking man that he frightened women and children every time he approached a dwelling.

Lieutenant Shannon had been told about the fellow by a number of his neighbors, all of whom expressed a desire that he be locked up. The lieutenant found the tramp seated in a clump of weeds awaiting at the top of his voice, but there was no person near that the words might be meant for. He had black and very thick, and he had been combed since childhood days. His beard was as unkempt. As for clothing, the man was arrayed in the stage rip Van Winkle, every article of wearing apparel being tattered and torn.

The police station he gave the name of Ben Vink, and as he sits in his cell at the city jail looks much like a wild animal in captivity.
